Daemen

Today

Rosary Hill College, was founded in 1947, by the Sisters of St. Francis of Penance and Christian Charity. It began as a small liberal arts college for women, but has expanded, and changed over the years, becoming coeducational in 1971. In 1976, the College changed its name to Daemen College, after the Franciscan order's foundress, Magdelene Daemen, a woman known for her dedication to the poor. Over the years the school has strived to work in the community, and improve the lives of the underprivileged.

Today, Daemen continues to grow. In addition to its mission of helping others, Daemen has begun thinking globally, and this year introduced the campaign for "Anthologies" an innovative 40,000 sq. ft. "green" building. The building will feature electronic classrooms, as well as state-of-the-art environmental conservation design. Envision a building with "green" design features – to conserve energy, water, and other resources, maximize the use of recycled materials, and minimize the use of toxic materials. The Center will be a unique addition to the Daemen campus, and will be the first free-standing "green" building on a Western New York college campus. It will also function as a core component of the College's Environmental Studies Program. Hopefully this will start a trend, and make people more aware of what they can do to help the environment.

The time that we had all worked for was finally here. Some 450 students received degrees at the 2006 Daemen College Commencement exercises, held 2:30 p.m., at Kleinhans Music Hall in Buffalo. Lynn Marinelli, Chairwoman of the Erie County Legislature and a Daemen College graduate, class of 1985, delivered the address to the Daemen College Class of 2006.

The College recognized four students with special presentations.

- Jessica Marie Zimpfer received the Charles L. Lumsden Award.

- Samantha Gabel received the Daemen College President's Award.

- Mary E. Parker received the The Mary Angela Canavan Award.

- Francine Carson received the Alumni Senior Award.

In her address, Marinelli told the graduates that the times we live in are challenging, and the pace of change can sometimes be overwhelming. But, she acknowledged that while not everyone is comfortable with rapid change, some things do not change, such as the values received in a college education.

In true Daemen graduate fashion she left us with these words : "You have your degree; some of you will go directly into the workplace...others will go on to further study – whatever your choice, my advice to you is to keep learning and progressing. With your education, you have been given the opportunity to contribute to change, to contribute to your communities."
